1967 Gibson Burgundy Sparkle ES-330

This is without doubt one of the cleanest examples of a Gibson Burgundy Sparkle ES-330 you will find.

There is none of the normal colour discolouration usually associated with this finish. The Burgundy Sparkle finish was prone to fading due to ultraviolet light and heat this resulted in the red lacquer top-coat fading into the gold undercoat. The result was that the guitar took on a rather unattractive brownish overall colour.

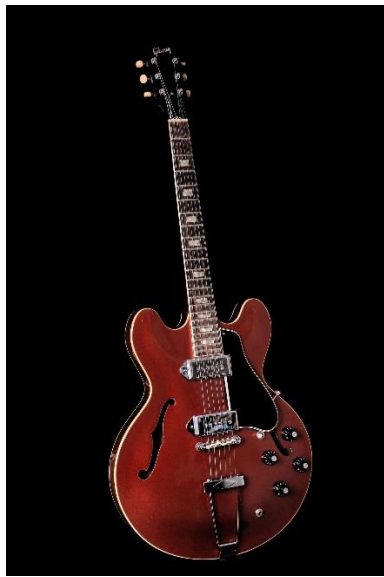

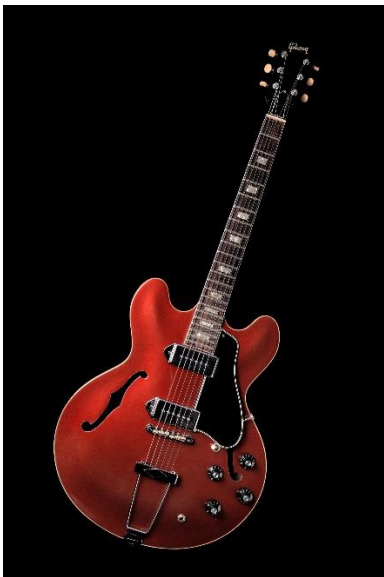

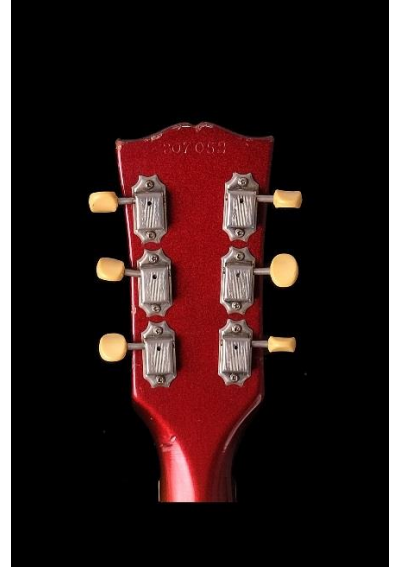

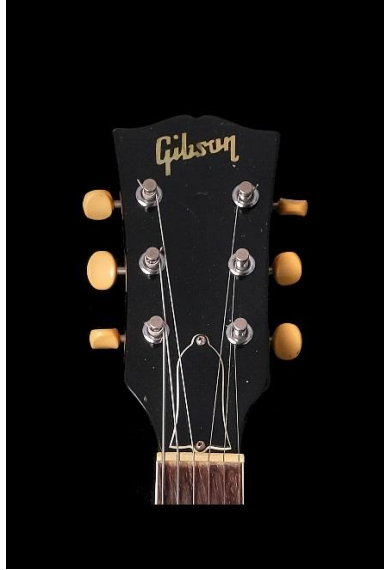

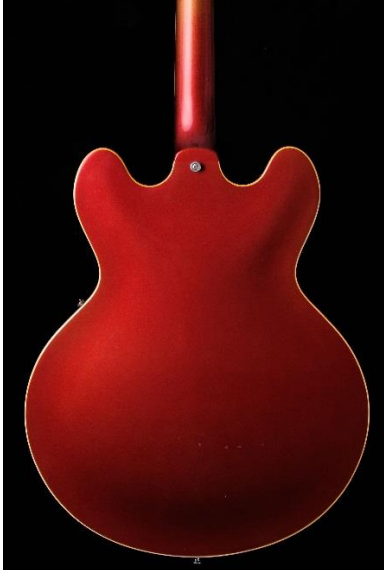

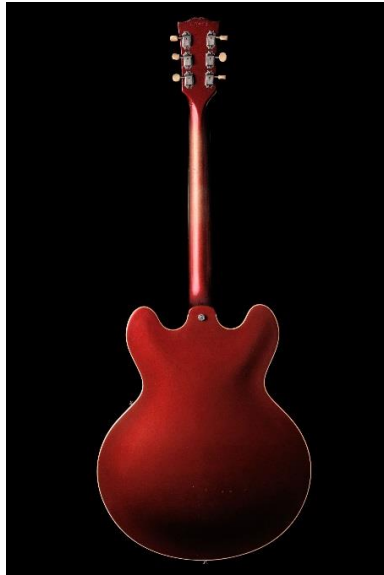

Most Burgundy Sparkle guitars have faded over time. This example, however, has retained all of its original colour except for a little fading on the back of the neck due to "hand heat." This is how Gibson intended this finish to look!

The stunning guitar comes with its original Gibson soft shell case which is also in extremely good original condition.

Price: £5,850
